expend on the next generation

nov 17

DISCIPLESHIP is the main thing in the church. Everything we do is geared towards making multiplying disciples. We have a mandate, as a church, as parents, even as individual believers to 'expend' in the spiritual training of the next generation.

expend on the next generation

Psalm 78
Ptr. Mark Magangat

What is then our calling as parents and as a church? What does God require of us? What is our calling as parents and as a community of believers toward the next generation?

Psalm 78 outlines God's purpose for parents and the church in expending on the next generation.

- I. Teach them Word of God.
- II. Tell them stories of God.
- III. Tip-off our children against sinfulness.
- IV. Testify their confidence in God.

Parenting based on the word of God is the Main Thing for children under God; but God means for parenting to happen in a community that helps provide what parents need. As such, may we mirror Psalm 78 in our homes, so the next generation, all the way down to there children's grandchildren and beyond, might know God and make him known.
